A1c Testing

Why it is important

Controlling diabetic blood sugar is important for your health, and lowering your A1c can help prevent complications caused by diabetes. It is important to complete an A1c test at least yearly if your A1c is controlled and more frequently until it becomes controlled.¹

If you need to complete an A1c test:

1. Work with your pharmacist to see if you are eligible for an in-home test kit. They can check to see if one has been mailed to you OR order one for you. You will just have to provide your name and date of birth to the pharmacist.
2. If you cannot complete your A1c test at home, take this form to your doctor and talk about when you should have the screenings and what you should do based on the screening results.

Have your doctor submit one of the below CPT codes for your A1c test.

Codes for diabetic blood sugar control
Physician Codes	CPT category II: 3044F, 3045F, 3046F, 3051F, 3052F Note: These codes count for both the HBA1c test AND HBA1c level.
Pathology/laboratory codes	CPT: 83036, 83037 LOINC: 4548-4, 4549-2, 17856-6 Note: Pathology/laboratory codes count for the HBA1c test measure. They must include the result value to count for the HBA1c poor control measure.
